

Attendees, guests, and colleagues—welcome!

Thank you for joining the New Mexico Coalition to End Homelessness at the 2023 Housing for All Conference. Over the next two days you will have the opportunity to learn from and share directly with some of our state’s leading experts on issues at the heart of our shared work. As Executive Director of the Coalition, I extend my sincerest gratitude to the event planning committee for investing their energy and creativity to provide a top-notch event for you all to enjoy. And thanks in advance to each of you, for the work you do every day, and for the many contributions you will make to this Conference.

Our mission at the Coalition is to “assist communities to create solutions to homelessness; from prevention through permanent housing by using action, advocacy, and awareness.” Each day the team at the Coalition and our member organizations uphold this mission through their work with individuals experiencing homelessness; through advocacy; and by building and sustaining strong partnerships with other agencies, funders, community and government. A prime example that we recently launched in Albuquerque and Santa Fe is the Built for Zero framework, a methodology to equitably and measurably end homelessness. This model will enable the Coalition and all our partners to more efficiently utilize data, reduce silos, and more effectively collaborate to change the systems that directly impact homelessness.

Together, we are building momentum and focusing on addressing issues sustainably and at scale. While there is much to be proud of, we know there is much more to be done.

Our intention is for you to find this Conference insightful in best practices, innovative strategies, partnership building, and moving our state closer to a future where “Housing is a Human Right.”

Thank you for attending and please enjoy the conference!

In Community,

Monet Silva
Executive Director
New Mexico Coalition to End Homelessness
